WE NOMINATE

Weiner Michael Blumenthal, a seasoned member of the growing legion of Princeton-to-New York commuters, who often looks upon the daily, sometimes exasperating trip to Manhattan as a prelude — or postlude — to stints of globetrotting. For the next several weeks this 44-year old president of Bendix International, whose responsibilities include oversight of the sales of items produced in some 60 affiliated plants located in 15 foreign countries, will be very much in the news as one of the generative forces behind the extraordinary Soviet-American public discussions recently announced from Moscow and scheduled for New York City late next month.

With a score of other national leaders, Blumenthal, a full-time Princetonian in the middle 1950's and now in his fourth year as a Princeton-based world traveler, will be a participant in the privately organized and financed National Convocation on the Challenge of Building Peace. The unparalleled gathering, opening April 29th, stems from the mounting public demand for some practical suggestions from the best minds in both the United States and the Soviet Union as to how all of us are going to survive in an age of nuclear weapons, pollution and threatened starvation in the underdeveloped nations.

Blumenthal's qualifications for a role in the convocation, making the first time prominent figures from both countries have met in the full glare of publicity to ponder key issues, range from teaching advanced economics, and the direction of international business operations on a vast scale, to distinguished government service under taxing circumstances. From 1963 to 1967, as the President's Deputy Special Representative for Trade Negotiations under both Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, he held the rank of U.S. Ambassador and in Geneva, Switzerland, directed the day-to-day conduct of the Kennedy Round of Trade Negotiations.

Earlier, from 1961 until 1963, following some four years of extensive world-wide travel as a vice-president and director of the Crown Cork International Corporation, he was Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Economic Affairs. During this period, Blumenthal chaired the United States Delegations which negotiated both the Long-Term Cotton Textile Arrangement and the International Coffee Agreement and represented this country on the United Nations Commission on International Commodity Trade. He was also a member of the U.S. Delegation to the 1961 Punta del Este Conference that initiated the Alliance for Progress.

Blumenthal, the father of daughters aged 12, 14 and 17 and a newly elected Charter Trustee of Princeton University, was born in Germany and spent his childhood years in Germany and China. He received his Bachelor of Science in international economics at the University of California (Berkeley) and earned his advanced degrees at Princeton, where he taught economics from 1951 until 1957. He is a Trustee of Newark State College, heads the Committee of Trade, Monetary & Corporate Policy of the Atlantic Council of the United States and is a member of the Advisory Council of Cornell's Graduate School of Business and Public Administration.

For his contributions to an undertaking dedicated to ending the "cold war," for bringing to the conference-table unusual insights into the economic problems confronting a sadly divided world; for broadening the concept of the traditional "Princeton Commuter," he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

YOUTH CENTER RE-DO-NE

"Atmosphere Changed." The atmosphere has changed — it's so cheerful and happy now, and it looks so nice!"

Youth Center has been re-painted, repiped, re-furnished, and if it doesn't sound foolish to say so, re-juvenated.

It's been re-named for more than a month now in its re-done state. For about 50 teens, it's a home-away-from-home, and for many more, it's a happy place to drop in.

Youth Center director Ralsh Mitchell and board members like Mrs. Alice Maile and Mrs. Carole Taylor have made it more and more, a community place where clubs of all sizes can meet and stage the kind of events that "Black Weekend." This weekend, for example, part of the Black Student Union (Princeton High) "Our Black Weekend" will be held at the Youth Center.

The BSL will start off with drama and a fashion show at the high school from 2-5 p.m. Saturday. Then, at 9 p.m. Saturday night the scene will shift to the Youth Center, where there will be a party featuring the "Black Souls."

Sunday "Our Black Weekend" moves back to the high school where there will be musical singing, dance groups and other entertainment from 4-5 p.m.

Tickets, at $1 for each event, $2.50 for the whole weekend, may be purchased at the Youth Center or at the PHS English Department office. Or at the home of whichever place you're going. Money goes to the BSL for help fund.

What? The Youth Center in case you just moved to town, is the brick building on the corner of Witherspoon and Green Streets. It's across from the cemetery, but it sounds a little better to say it's diagonally across from the library.

Re-naming the Youth Center was more than just bright new paint and a brand. The building is owned by the Borough of Princeton, and it was mostly through municipal funds that went into the remodeling. The Township set aside $1,800 from its budget for the Center.

With $15,000 budgeted for FIVE FOR FASHION: These are five of the models who will display the latest spring fashions during "Our Black Weekend" this Saturday and Sunday. (See "This Is Princeton" for more information.) Models, all members of the Black Student Union at Princeton High School are Barbara Owens (top, front), Marla Scott (seated) and left to right standing: Lisa Yates, Lynn Bullock and Dolores Boyd.

pal dollars, contractors replaced a leaky roof, it will be the latest of the Friendship Club repairs. The black Student Union plans to make another fashion show.

Downstairs, is the pool table. And karate and weightlifting. The downstairs kitchen has been painted and maybe some day there will be snacks. At the moment, none.

Mrs. Taylor says the kids have to work the snack bar themselves — who will help with snacks, and so on — because there won't be vending machines.

What to Do? When the Center was closed for repairs, plans were laid for new activities. This year, there are membership dues: $2 a year, plus 50¢ for guests. There is a teen board besides the adult board, and eventually, Mrs. Taylor says, the kids want their own disciplinary board.

Lots of "clubs" have sprung up within the Center. Mrs. Taylor herself has the "Ebonettes," a group of six girls who put on their own luncheon-fashion show not long ago. They hope to raise money for summer trips.

Modern dancing—male and female African dance. A drama club. Revival of the photography club—darkroom space is available. A radio station working through WPRB, the University's campus station. Arts and crafts, of course. And maybe a Youth Center newspaper.

Mr. Mitchell hopes for more dances, and the kids have even agreed on parents as chaperones. More "field trips" too.

Center for Youth. The other day, a group of girls worked over Laine which they were dyeing, back-style, to make dashikis and—well, maybe something for the Center. Some kids were in the lounge, singing and talking into a tape recorder and pre-empting to be on a radio program. Laughing and chattering as they sang and played back. A girl was doing her homework. "It's a hundred percent change." Mrs. Taylor repeats. "The kids are so impressed about the way the Center looks! It's such a cheerful and happy place now, and it looks so nice. If any problems arise now, I think the kids themselves can deal with them."

POST OFFICE PLANS

Chamber Urges Harrison Area. The Princeton Chamber of Commerce wants "a new, enlarged Princeton post office" in the Harrison Street North area, the section marked for a post office on the Township's Master Plan map.

This is where the Thane Corporation's property lies. Thane seems to have the go-ahead for leasing its land for a new post office. Unless, that is, the United States Supreme Court agrees to hear the Township's case against Thane, and having heard it, gives the Township an affirmative decision.

The chamber, through its president A. T. David, wrote to Township Committee announcing the unanimous decision on March 11 of its board of directors approving the North Harrison section. Mr. David pointed out to Committee that in two public hearings on the Master Plan, there had been no objection to designation of the area as for post office purposes.

The letter described Harrison Street North as a central location. A post office there, the Chamber said, would free Palmer Square of traffic congestion.

Route One. Meanwhile, the Township is still thinking about a Route One location for a new Princeton post office. Mayor John D. Wallace, Committeeman James A. Floyd and Congressman Frank Thompson have discussed the possibility with Mayor Malcolm B. Roszel who is "not unsympathetic." Mayor Wallace reported Monday night.

"But no community can push its problems into another community," the mayor observed. He said that Congressman Thompson hoped the various communities using the post office could use a common approach to solving the problem.

Mayor Wallace and Township Committee, plus Borough Council and Borough officials, hope to meet before the end of March with officials from Philadelphia in the operations division of the post office department.

The Township would like a clear-cut description of exactly what the post office plans to do on Harrison Street North. To what extent would the building be devoted to distribution? What hours of the day (or night) would it operate? Exactly how many and what kind of trucks?

Thane officials have not been invited to this meeting.

HOUSE IS ENTERED

On Cherry Hill Road, The house of Joseph Pack, 474 Cherry Hill Road was entered between noon and 3:30 Thursday afternoon by someone who probably came in through an unlocked door. Township police said. There were no signs of forced entry.

Taken were a $60 clarinet and a $40 radio. The house was just lightly searched, police said, and only items easy to sell taken. P. Robert Henecock investigated.

Township police have charged a Trenton man with breaking and entering and larceny in connection with the burglary Monday of a home in the northeast section of the Township. Acting on information they had received, Detective Norman Servis and Samuel Bianco arrested and charged Charles E. Burnett, 36, Detective Bianco said that Burnett had voluntarily come back to Township headquarters.

Taken in the theft, police said, were a portable typewriter and a television set. A pane of glass in a front door had been broken to gain entry. Police declined to identify the home.

For Legal Action? "Embattled" is the word these days for the Penn Central Railroad.

Latest in the continuing skirmish between the railroad and its commuters is the threat of legal action against Penn Central, possibly for as much as $20 million.

The feasibility of such action will be the subject of a meeting this Thursday at 8 p.m. in the John Witherspoon School auditorium, Walnut Lane. The public is invited.

The speaker will be Gerald H. Abrams of the Rutgers University Law School. Basis for a suit, Professor Abrams contends, is a century-old New Jersey law which requires all railroads operating in the state to run trains on time, with sufficient accommodation for all passengers, or

CARE TO FILE SUIT? Mrs. Gary B. Deason invites a Penn Central commuter to attend a lecture this Thursday, sponsored by the Consumer Bureau on the feasibility of legal action against the railroad. else face liability for damage claims by aggrieved passengers.

The idea of a suit comes from the Consumer Bureau and its president, Joseph M. Boyd. With half a dozen Bureau staff members, Mr. Boyd spent early Monday morning riding each of the six Penn Central commuter trains out from Trenton, Princeton Junction and New Brunswick to Newark and New York.

More than 3,500 invitations were handed out individually to commuters.

Mr. Boyd's Consumer Bureau, which he describes as "a non-profit community service," isn't the only group at the barricades. James Harford, 32 Mason Drive, is still leading toward his Committee of 100 Princeton Commuters. Further comments from Mr. Boyd, "Mailbox," page 131.

Representatives of Mr. Har-ford's organization talked last week in New York with Penn Central officials and were informed that the railroad plans to drop the 7:40 a.m. on June 30.

"Incredible!" exclaimed Princeton Township Committee-man Dean Chace at Committee meeting Monday night.

He said that the 7:40 shipped in to relieve over-crowding was never officially on the time-table anyhow, so could be dropped with impunity.

"That 7:40 relieves intolerable over-crowding," he continued. "The railroad will be cancelling the only positive step it's taken in years!" Committee agreed to send a protest to the Public Utilities Commission urging Penn Central to reconsider and take action.

Penn Central spokesmen explain that a subsidy agreement under which Penn Central directly the operating costs of the 7:40 with the New Jersey law. The statute says.

"Every railroad company that start and run trains for the transportation of persons and property at regular times to be fixed by public rate."

"Every railroad company shall furnish sufficient accommodations for the transportation of all such passengers and property as shall within a reasonable time previous thereto be offered for transportation at the place of starting, the junctions of other railroads and at usual stopping places established for receiving way passengers and freight for that train."

"The company shall take transport and discharge such passengers at and from and to such places on the due payment of the legal fare or freight and shall be liable to the party aggrieved in an action for damages for any neglect or refusal in the premises."

PUBLIC HOUSING?

Moves Ahead, for Township. Low-cost public housing for the Township is coming closer. Township Committee passed on Monday night its part of the agreement with the Borough's housing authority under which the authority will act as the Township's agent in dealing with federal low-cost housing officials.

Now the housing authority will get in line, so to speak, for money dispensed by HUD — the Housing and Urban Development arm of the federal government.

The Township is talking in terms of 100 units. However, Committee member James A. Floyd said the figure was simply a number to tell HUD and didn't necessarily mean a precise count.

Later, Mrs. Steve Slab, executive director of the housing authority, underscored Mr. Floyd's comment, and emphasized that the exact number of housing units was still very indefinite. So is the site, so far no land has been acquired for the purpose.

At Monday's meeting, William Cherry, 24 Dempsey Avenue, asked whether the agreement committed the Township to variances for the project if variances were needed. Mr. Floyd said no.

Power Going Up. Public Service has informed the Township of its request to the Public Utilities Commission for an overall rate increase of 10.65%. No date has yet been set for the PUC hearing.

"They say the electricity rate increase is 14%", but that's almost dishonest," exclaimed Committee member Deane Chace. "They include residential heating, and very few people around here heat with electricity. For the regular resident, I would say the electricity increase is more like 22%."

Public Service has told affected communities that this is the first rate rise since 1958. There have been two rate reductions since then, Public Service says.

Sewer — Maybe. Autumn Hill where some householders want a sewer and others do not, may get one anyway. Committee unanimously directed acting engineer Joseph Hodak to move in on the hilly, rock area and figure out the best way to provide it with a sewer.

The action followed a Board of Health memo urging Committee once again to consider sewer extension in the area. One property has an overflowing septic system, the board says, and the clay-like soil precludes the building of any more such systems.

Administrator Joseph R. Nini calculated an approximate cost of $73,000. There is $30,000 already in the capital budget.

Meanwhile, the joint sewer with Montgomery Township is making progress. Mr. Nini reported that work is proceeding on the treatment plant, following a low bid of $261,480. The trunk line from the Montgomery border to the plant ($159,873), will probably be finished this month.

However, work on the Township's own Mt. Lucas sewer, which will tie in to the brand new plant, won't even start until June, Mr. Hodak said.

Bus Stop. The Tiger Bus Garage on lower John Street, has not always enchanted neighbors with sight, sound and scent. Mayor John D. Wallace read a letter he has written to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sunkler, 297 Wilderness, reporting on conversations with owners of the line.

The owners would like new quarters, they told the mayor, but can't find any place to move. They assured Township officials they will try to improve operations and in particular, will review the number of buses buses used for warming up. Neighbors have protested

Line Forms at the Right

If spring comes
On Friday
Then Friday is My day?

On the calendar, spring begins Friday at 7:57 p.m. It may take a while to make its presence felt.

Winter was planning to bow out with some snow flurries, more or less. It could also point to a near-record 290 degrees below normal since January 1. Temperatures will remain somewhat colder than usual for the next few days, the Men reports. Skies will be partly sunny but balmy stuff is a while off.

noxious fumes, noise and late hours of operation.

The new electrical code was passed, its controversial permit section deleted. Under the new code, institutions and contractors don't need to take out a permit to do work, but they must have the finished work inspected. If the job is over $500, a certificate showing inspection ($5 fee) is required.

The electrical code is the last of five building codes which were revised by the Township as part of the workable program required by federal housing authorities (HUD) for low-cost housing. Now HUD no longer requires a workable program.

Budget Passes. The $2,170,666 municipal budget was passed after a public hearing which drew few questions.

Public library spokesmen said they want to be sure both Township and Borough understand the library's needs in a growing community. At the moment, what the library wants is enough parking-meter time to return a book and select another one; specifically, half-hour meters in the newly-acquired Borough lot next to the library.

Revised tax figures bring the Township's tax rate to $7.12 per $100 of assessed valuation. The county's previous figure has been advanced $18 for a final $1.97. Schools are $4.14, the local rate is 96c and the veterans-senior citizens accounts for the last nickel.

CALLIERS TO MORVEN

Not Drumhwaquet. Governor William T. Cahill, his wife, and their eight children will move into Morven in June, not into Drumhwaquet, as they had hoped. In revealing his decision last week, the Governor cited the time and money that would be required to renovate the larger mansion properly.

The governor's decision took by surprise the blue-ribbon committee headed by Paul L. Trosad and former governors Richard Hughes and Alfred E. Driscoll. That group has reportedly raised $200,000 in private money to make Drumhwaquet the Governor's mansion. Morven, the official residence of New Jersey governors since 1954, has been found lacking in space for official functions and entertaining.

Some $400,000 and five months would be required to renovate Drumhwaquet, according to estimates which have circulated for some time. However, the Governor indicated Wednesday that these estimates are too low, and he said he wants to resettle his family before the fall school term gets under way.

Members of the fund-raising committee were close-mouthed after learning of the Governor's decision in a private audience. What will happen to the money already solicited was not clear, but Mr. Cahill has washed the state's hands of the project. He said New Jersey is "not in a financial position" to commit itself to a reconstruction project at this time.

The state has owned Drumhwaquet since 1907 when it was purchased at a cost of $250,000. The intent was to make it the Governor's mansion eventually, but efforts were redoubled when Mr. Cahill indicated last November he would like to live there. The possibility that the whole project was turning into a political football was raised as another rationale for the Governor's decision Wednesday. The Governor reportedly balked when he learned that eight banks and other firms doing business with the state had contributed to the private fund to fix up his new residence.

TO HIRE MINORITIES

At Increased Rate, Princeton University will attempt to increase the hiring of members of minority groups for work on University construction projects. A permanent 10-member monitoring committee, to offer help and support to people in minority groups, has been formed. Representatives of trade unions, contractors and the University suggested the formation of such a committee, and are included in its composition.

The new approach to hiring policies was outlined last Thursday at a press conference held by University officials.

Representatives of trade unions, contractors and the University have agreed to an initial goal: fixing employment on University projects on a level equivalent to the percentage of the population the minority groups represent within the jurisdiction of each union, said John F. Moran, director of the physical plant for the University.

"We are now in a position where we have a pledge of cooperation from the unions and contractors," Mr. Moran added.

How Many Now? At present, 112 people classified as skilled tradesmen are employed by building trades within the University, said James H. Barbour, director of the office of personnel. Of these 112, six represent minority groups, he stated.

Dr. Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton University, told reporters that the agreement also provides for stepped-up training in the Princeton area.

Representatives have recommended a full-time course on construction technique, perhaps at Mercer County Community College.

Among the 10 members of the monitoring committee are Ben Knott of the sheet metal workers; William H. Fry, of the carpenters and joiners; Albert S. Ranch, of the plumbers and two contractors' representatives, Simon Bell of Bell Co., Inc. of Trenton and Clifford L. Elling of Elling Brothers, Somerville.

There will be three University representatives: Mr. Barbour; Charles L. Jenkins, from the department of physical plant; H. Taylor Gherardi, man-

THREE ARE INJURED

In Washington Road Mishap. A mother and her two small sons received assorted cuts and bruises early Sunday afternoon when the small car in which they were riding ran into the rear of another on Washington Road near Lake Road.

They are Mrs. Dorothy Ferguson, 36, 27 Brook Tree Road, Hightstown, and her sons, Robert, 6, and Richard, 6. Mrs. Ferguson told police that she was unable to stop in time when a car in front of her braked suddenly. Police identified the driver as Roger J. O'Kane, 69, of Princeton Junction. Mr. O'Kane told police he had to stop suddenly and veer to the left to avoid hitting a car in front of him that had slowed quickly to make a right turn onto Lake Road.

PJ Howard Sweeney investigated.

Roxanne Forrester, 43, 353 Nassau Street, received a contusion and slight laceration of her forehead Friday when the car in which she was a passenger bumped the rear of another on Got a Sears, 1927?

Got a Sears Roadbook or Montgomery Ward catalogue from 1927 up in your attic somewhere?
(Or maybe in your cherished collection of 20s nostalgia?) Charles Blackburn, who's designing costumes for "Most Happy Fella," the P.J. & O. 1920 musical, desperately needs such a catalogue for his research. It won't be used in the play.
"I will guard it," he says fervently, "with my life, if you'll just lend it to me for a while."
A call to McCarter Theatre, 921-8700 will bring Mr. Blackburn eagerly to your door.

"TROILUS" NEXT
Fired Repertory Play, Rarely performed until recent years, Shakespeare's "Troilus and Cressida" has become increasingly popular with producers and audiences because it treats of war, political structures and social relationships.

It will enter the current McCarter repertory on Sunday, March 26 at 8:30, and will play through the end of the season on April 25.

The play comprises elements of comedy, tragedy and satire, within the framework of the Trojan War. An intricate plot describes the Greek encampment, the Trojan side and the doomed love of Troilus and Cressida.

REAL RAGTIME

Morath is Researcher, Max Morath pored over old sheet music, studied ragtime play piano rolls and even poked around in various libraries, researching the musical history of America in 1890-1920.

He also had some real-time, rag-time experience, directing music for the Imperial Players in the old mining-town of Crap-

WHERE IS THAT DEAR BOY? Eslee Miller (Lella Cannon) does some midnight worrying about son Richard, in Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness!" in repertory at McCarter Theatre this Saturdays. Comforting her is husband Nal (John Braden). (Jim McDonald Photo)

Combining research and western experience, he evolved the "Evening at the Turn of the Century," which will come to McCarter on Monday, March 30, at 8:30 p.m.

Audiences who saw his act in New York before opening night in February, 1969, and its closing 10 weeks later, have found the Morath "Evening" a blend of modern showmanship and old-time vaudeville repertory, larded with humorous comments on the music, mores, and etiquette of a long-ago day.

CASTING CALL ISSUED

For Pinter Plays, "The Tea Party" and "The Basement" by Harold Pinter will be presented in May by the Princeton Community Players. The casting will be held at 8:30 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday in the Unitarian Church theatre, Cherry Hill Road.

Alan Pierce, director of "The Tea Party," is looking for four men and four women of various ages, as well as two boys aged ten or 12. "The Basement" to be directed by Tom Queennon, needs two men ages 25 to 30, and one woman in her 20's.

The two Pinter plays were originally written for television and were produced during the 1963-69 season. They are typical of the Pinter style, somewhat enigmatic but always engrossing.

The two directors will be present at the Player's open meeting at 8:30 p.m. this Sunday at the Unitarian Church. They will discuss the plays and the actors needed.

Alan Pierce directed last May's successful production of Pinter's "The Lover" and Innocence's "The Bald Soprano." Tom Queennon has directed a short Pinter play, "Landscapes," which will be presented at the meeting. June Cawley and Philip Paul will take part.

TRIBUTE ON TUESDAY

To Martin Luther King, A special film, "An Evening in Tribute to Martin Luther King" will be shown at 8 p.m. on Tuesday in the Garden and Prince Theatres, as part of a nationwide, one-night-only showing of the production.

Funds raised will go to the Martin Luther King Jr. Special Fund. The film includes portions featuring Harry Belafonte, Charlton Heston, Burt Lancaster, Paul Newman, Sidney Poitier, Anthony Quinn and Joanne Woodward.

Tickets at $5 are available at the theatre box offices. The Garden and Prince are among more than 1,000 theatres contributing their facilities and personnel to the event.

SMALL BALLET NEXT

Group is New. Formed only last fall, the Princeton Ballet Theatre Players will make their Princeton debut in McCarter Theatre on Sunday, April 12 at 3 p.m. as the next event in the annual Dance Series.

The 12-member group, selected from dancers in the American Ballet Theatre, has been designed to fill the need for a small classical ballet company which can perform in communities where the full 150-member American Ballet company cannot appear.

The Players' repertory has been drawn exclusively from the Ballet Theatre's own repertory. It consists of ten ballets - classic, dramatic and contemporary - from such choreographers as Balanchine and Herbert Ross.

FILM SERIES SCHEDULED
British "Civilization" Offered.
Art historian Sir Kenneth Clark's film series, "Civilization," thirteen 30-minute films originally produced for BBC television, will be shown at Princeton University on six evenings beginning April 8.

Termed "a magnificent, excitingly different exploration of the artistic achievements and ideas of Western man from the collapse of Rome to the present time," "Civilization" will be shown free of charge in 10 McCosh Hall under auspices of the Princeton University Chapel. Admission tickets must be obtained in advance at Murray-Dodge Hall or at the Chapel office.

All performances will begin at 8 p.m. Subsequent dates are April 9, 10, 13, 15 and 16.

The BBC assigned Lord Clark two producers and a three-man camera crew to make the series. For two years they traveled 80,000 miles in 11 countries, filming paintings, sculptures, churches, palaces and landscapes.

"What the series adds up to is a wide-angle view of Western civilization accompanied by Clark's personal, witty and ever-trenchant commentary." Newsweek magazine summarizes. Each segment of the series takes up one period—the Renaissance, the Reformation, the Romantic Era, for instance — and explores it in terms of its artistic accomplishments, which Sir Kenneth regards as more trustworthy than the pronouncements of its statesmen.

Wide Interest Shown The film was shown last spring on BBC television. It was previewed in this country this fall at New York University's Town Hall in cooperation with the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and also was shown at the National Gallery of Art in Washington. More than 10,000 persons tried to find space at the 30-seat National Gallery auditorium for the first program, according to news reports.

The first program is entitled "The Skin of our Teeth." It picks up the thread of western history where it was broken off after the decline of Greco-Roman civilization, starting in the 4th century AD. "The Great Thaw" is the second segment to be offered April 8.

PRINCE
Goodbye, Mr. Chips (now playing). Old-fashioned sentiment is a commodity hard to come by these days in films rated for the general audience. There is lots of action and adventure to be had but there's precious little to stir a moviegoer to a few honest tears.

This latter quality is the trump card of the new version of James Hilton's 1934 novel, "Goodbye, Mr. Chips." The new "Chips" has been set to words and music by Leslie Bricusse. It is not so unabashedly sentimental as the 1939 version which had Robert Donat and Greer Garson in the roles now played by Peter O'Toole and Petula Clark.

Some changes have been

Another Viewpoint

While a number of media have had high praise for the British film series, "Civilization," the New York Times demurs.

Calling the work of one of the principal directors, Michael Gill, "aggressively pretentious and dull," the Times felt that "Civilization" isn't so much a movie as it is a moving, coffee-table book. The review added, "It is essentially popular art history, with a leavening of intellectual history that perhaps stands or falls in direct relation to how much you don't know about the subject."

"Civilization," the review concludes, "is always handsome to look at, and full of good music (Purcell sounds better in context than Beethoven does), and it adds up to a depressingly accurate, official preview of the history of human arrangements."

made in both characters and situations, but the tear-jerking situations are the same — the quietly expressed grief of the schoolmaster hero at the sudden death of his wife, and his emotional farewell to his pupils when he retires.

Terence Rattigan wrote the film script, placing stronger emphasis on the romantic angle. Part of the film is played out against the magnificent ruins of Pompeii where Sir Mr. Chips meets the musical comedy star (another Rattigan character switch).

The picture is strongly dramatic. The music is a kind of bonus — incidental music for the most part. The Bricusse songs are bland. O'Toole makes a first-rate Chips — one that challenges comparison with Donat who was an Oscar for his performance. Miss Clark is as charming in the role as Miss Garson was back in '39.

Lavitt's book, "Willie Boy") is Abraham Polonsky, who was blacklisted in the McCarthy era and has not worked in films under his own name since 1949 with the exception of the script for "Madigan." His only previous directing stint was "Force of Evil," a John Garfield starrer which is highly esteemed by film buffs.

A western in locale and character types only, "Willie Boy" tells the story of two pairs of ill-starred lovers — the Indian couple who are victims of hostility against their race, and the white pair who represent different and antagonistic levels of society. The film is peppered with a dry wit.

Characterizations are wonderfully drawn — Robert Redford gives a beautiful, understated portrayal of sheriff Cooper, who personifies the strong, silent western man of action. Robert Blake's performance as Willie Boy is memorable for the integrity with which he capitalizes the vanishing of his race by the white man. Susan Clark is splendid as the lady doctor from Boston who enjoys to the hilt her masculine role as superintendent of the Indian reservation. Katherine Ross breathes life and vigor into the relatively minor role of the Indian girl, Lola.

Basically, the film deals with the ambivalence, inequities, and primitivism inherent in the American culture. Photographed in softly muted colors which suddenly sharpen in the moment of confrontation between Indian and sheriff, the film has beautiful shots of the western landscape. With no objectionable sex scenes and a minimum of violence, Willie Boy should appeal to all levels.

GARDEN

Alice's Restaurant (now playing) Arthur Penn's picture is the first movie to be inspired by a folk ballad interrupted by a 15-minute monologue.

The song is Arlo Guthrie's, "Alice's Restaurant Massacre," in which he describes the amusingly bizarre story of his arrest for littering in Stockbridge, Mass., one Thanksgiving Day and the equally droll tale of his examination for the draft in New York City.

Penn and Venable Herndon, co-authors of the screenplay, have incorporated these incidents into a rambling script involving Guthrie, who plays himself, and a variety of characters, including Alice and her husband, Ray.

The soundtrack, also including music by Arlo's father, Woody Guthrie, the Dust Bowl balladeer, and Jonico Mitchell, is one of the pleasures of his movie, a long with the superb color photography of Michael Nebbia.

LAST CHILDREN'S FILM Set For Saturday. "Hey There, It's Your Bear," is the film that will close the children's movie series of the West Windsor PTA. Saturday at 1:30 in the Maurice Hawk School.

Yogi and his animal friends are up to their usual high-jinks, baiting tourists, outwitting rangers, and snatching picnic baskets as they rolick in Jellystone Park. Mrs. Curtis E. Seakins, has served as chairman of the year's film series, and Mrs. Charles Drake assisted in making arrangements for this program. All tickets are 50c and will be available at the door.

Just bring a bikini and a toothbrush.

A Club Méditerranée Resort Village is an unusually casual place. There's no such thing as last names and a bathing suit can be your whole wardrobe (but a drink at the bar) is free.

Here, virtually everything (but a drink at the bar) is free. Spearfishing, tennis, sailing, 3 feasts a day by master French chefs, all the wine you can drink at these feasts, nightly entertainment—all free.

In fact, you can't even tip anyone. The cost is slight. For instance: One week, fully all inclusive with round trip jet air fare via Air France, at Martinique (French West Indies)—

IT'S NEW To Us

MOVING BACK THE WALLS
At The Workbench. There's an art to resolving the problem of furniture size and available space. The Workbench on Route 206 (near Cherry Hill Road) has for the past year and a half been an outstanding exponent of simple, clean-lined furniture and storage resources. Now that the showroom has been nearly doubled in size, you can see even more of The Workbench's ideas for the modern home.

Trundles, for instance. Ron Choquett showed us a triple trundle bed — as compact as anything you could wish for. Perfect for the small house, for the place at the shore. Two beds nestle under a third. When you pull out the bottom one, its legs open to raise it to the height of the middle bed.

"Even our bunk beds have a space underneath for a space trundle," Mr. Choquett commented. "These are a great solution for your child's overnight guests — and we sell a lot of trundles to adults for their extra house."

"We try to feature natural woods," he continues, "they're easy to match with everything else. The trundles come in teak, walnut or beechwood, and there's a choice of poly foam or foam rubber mattresses."

The Workbench has a captain's bed, a fascinating piece in walnut, with four drawers underneath — two on each side. And there a single-cushion couch — "add a trundle and it becomes a queen's size bed," Mr. Choquett says, wandering around the showroom.

At the Workbench, you can pick any sofa you like, and they will work out any number of changes at no difference in cost: single cushion seat, or two; three cushions at the back; or one, or two; and arm cushions. Most of the sofas come in three or four different sizes.

"This allows a customer to custom plan his piece," Mr. Choquett says. "We also have the only furniture fabric in the world that can be washed with detergent — Vectra."

There are hundreds of fabrics to choose from — corduroys to nubby, irregular weaves. There are vinyls and velours that are water repellent and stain resistant. The new Glafin fibre that is so tough yet soft to touch and fade-proof, is also easy on your allergies. It comes in many weaves: tweeds, plaids, and the popular herringbone. "This is not the most expensive fabric; it's right down the middle. When a woman tells me I have three children and they're rough — and I don't want to buy vinyl,"

SINK INTO THE BEAN BAG, and put your beer on the floor beside you — you're set for pure, slothful comfort in front of the TV. You don't weigh in at all. It's a lounging chair, a sofa, a children's whatnot — depending on the shape you punch in. You'll find the Bean Bag, filled with a million soft little styrofoam balls, at The Workbench of Princeton, 55 State Road (Route 206) where Ron Choquett (above, left) and his assistant Gille Spellman have it pretty soft, we'd say.

I lead her right to this," Mr. usable and attractive children's furniture.

The expanded showroom at that grows with the child. The Workbench gives them a working surface is a heavy, adjustable to an angle for drawing space to display the very 39" x 28" top with inset lin-learn in a neutral gray. There's an adjusting pin on each of the supporting legs that solves the problem of height. The top adjusts to an angle for drawing. —Continued On Next Page

Typically, while the desk was designed with the growing child in mind, men and women have been buying it for holiday needs. (In pine, $75)

The Workbench has an adjustable chair that will fit your toddler at age three and grow with him. The back and seat adjust. At full size, the chair is the same size as a dining chair for an adult, and comes in bright colors: yellow, red, blue, black and green, with very modern, slick-moving castes in chrome.

And, also in the space saving line, three-legged wooden stools that stack nicely. They are very sturdy, with a round seat and legs firmly curved to attach to the floor. The designer is Aito of Finland. The seat is covered with washable linoleum, $17.50. When you see it, you'll see how much linoleum has changed since the day when it used to crack on the kitchen floor.

While you're at The Workbench, explore the dining tables, square, cabaret-size that expand to seat eight, or small rectangles that double in size.
The 34" table of teak opens to 80" $129. The tables are beautifully made with mitered corners and full expression given to the woodgrain.

The Workbench is receiving requests for its catalogue from all over the world these days.
Most of them come from individuals who receive the local papers. A Marine private wrote last week from Vietnam asking for a catalogue -- "I'm getting out in June and I'm planning to get married." A Princeton couple in Ankara, Turkey, have written too, looking ahead to their return to town in about a year.

The Workbench is quite a place.

CLUB MEDITERRANEE
"It's Great!" American Express has an interest in the Club Mediterranee vacation spots, and in each of its offices there is someone who has taken a holiday at one of the clubs. The American Express office on Nassau Street has four staff members who have come back starry-eyed.

"It's everything they say it is," Britt Palmer, the Princeton manager will tell you. "I've been to two of them -- Martinique and Guadeloupe. They are absolutely great. In fact, in the cover of Look Magazine for March 10 is the photo of the scuba instructor I went skin diving with."

What's Club Mediterranee?
It's an informal vacation at a spectacularly-located resort -- it's a village in the heart of it sports, entertainment, excusions and outstanding food -- all for a single, low, all-inclusive price. No extra charges, no tipping.

Some are beach resorts, others are in mountain areas. You can stroll through American Wildflower press ($6 single; $10 family, renewable yearly). You can go to Moorea or Bora Bora in the South Pacific; Martinique or Guadeloupe in the Caribbean; to Agadir or Ouarzazate in Marocco; to Caesarea in Israel, or to a choice of eight club
resorts in the Alps.

To understand what you're in for, you'll find a few luxuries dispensed with: no meals or drinks brought to your collage or hotel room is the main one. But all instruction in sports is free -- all sports activities are free.

There are picnics, camp-out trips, and at some places a club schooner to take you to deserted off-shore islands where you can shell hunt or swim. You can't carry your car money in your bikini, so the Club has devised bead currency that you wear around your neck.

Since it is very informal, you meet a lot of people as well as have a lot of fun. There is frequent entertainment: cabarets, stage shows, folklore events, where singers and dancers
from the local population perform for the members. For eight o'clock, there's a nightclubdiscoteque. You choose your program.

For instance, "Buccaneer's Creek" is the Club on Martinique, the largest of the Windward Isles in the Caribbean. It is open all year; capacity 600, and offers double occupancy rooms in air-conditioned cottages with private baths. The things to do include swimming, sailing, snorkeling, scuba, tennis, yoga, judo, picnics, day-sail cruises. There are excusions (extra cost), shopping trips for French perfumes, madras, basket work, native handicrafts -- and rum. Evenings, dancing and entertainment.

Rates vary according to the season: $10 per person per week in the late spring and summer for Martinique, plus air fare.

Club Mediterranee is a 19-year-old organization that pioneered the novel, unconventional, wholly-different approach to a holiday. If you sign up for the vacation on Moorea, Tahiti, you may well find Britt Palmer there. That's next on his list.

Hillish near Witherspoon Street. The driver, Carol C. Nielson, 46, 345 Nassau, told P.I. James Agius that as she was stopping she glanced down at a spot on her coat and when she looked up again she was unable to stop in time to avoid bumping the rear end of a car driven by Bernard Lichtenstein, 22, 410 Butler Avenue.

Mrs. Nielson took Mrs. Forrester to Princeton Hospital where P.I. Agius interviewed both drivers. There were no charges.

POLICE CHARGE MAN

In Holder Hall Theft, Nemiah Foxworth, 23, 184 Witherspoon Street, has been charged with the alleged theft last week of between $30 and $40 from room 14A of Holder Hall.

According to police, students saw the suspect rumaging in their room early in the morning. They notified a university proctor who called the police. P.I. James Agius made the arrest.

Foxworth has been placed under $1,000 bail to await a hearing before Borough Judge Theodore T. Tamm Jr.

TAPES, RECORDER TAKEN

From Parked Car, A $200 tape recorder and 40 tapes valued at $280 were reported stolen last week to Borough police by their owner, George Johnson, 168 Nassau Street.

Mr. Johnson told police that he had parked his car in the lot behind Thorne's Drug Store and had locked it. Police said they believe the thief was able to slip the door lock with a coat hanger.

Miss Suzana Wylie of Palmer Square reported a coat stolen last week from St. Andrew's Church. She valued her black leather coat with beaver collar and cuffs at $285.

David Merrill of Princeton Junction reported that his $750 hat was also taken from the church.

An 11-Year Old Boy Surveys the World Around Him

"The Way Things Work," is on his bookshelf. Also "A Child's Garden of Verses," a peeked frog and a paperback, "From Cell to Test Tube." Inspired by the Apollo 11 flight, he rises before dawn every morning to record the hour of the sunrise, and in the evening he records the sunset.

On the wall is his scale drawing of a cross-section of the Navy's first submarine, the "Turtle," developed during the Revolutionary War. "They tried to sink British ships with it, but it was unsuccessful," Paul Garver, age 11, of 12 Witherspoon Street, says of the "Turtle."

Paul is a member of the Teton Dakotas, more particularly of the Ogala sub-tribe. His mother, Mrs. Joanne Garver, who adopted him when he was 2, has surrounded his alert young mind with books, music and art, encouraged his interest in football and the natural sciences.

"I just got started," Paul says confidently, a small boy grin flashing across his face.

Puff Balls and Algae. He has a growing collection of specimens on homemade glass slides, each neatly labeled: puff ball spores, two kinds of moths, mold, algae, onion skin, the inside of a piece of wood. He has begun a journal of his findings.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE, a free-swinging parakeet who opens his own cage is the subject of a journal of scientific observations by his owner, Paul Garver, 11, who is also a budding microbiologist, geologist, astronomer and botanist.

Paul's cage is filled with shiny and reflective beaks, all so colorful a tray of small items as if it were a small museum. His last all-nighter was on February 23. There are neatly-lettered entries of his findings.

SECRET The house is a tiny, room lighted by one window facing the east. On the door is a sign carefully lettered "SECRET." There is a small table, and a shelf with a microscope and a radiometer on it. From the refrigerator in the kitchen he takes a list titled with platitude found at the seashore.

"The green one here," he says opening a book to a page of plant drawings is "Gracilaria americana. The brown one this kind of chameleon is 'Ophiocystis'. The other one feels kind of rubbery. It's called 'the stumpy'."

He unites the envelope of a large manila envelope and pulls out clippings from the science pages of weekly magazines, newspapers and The Scientific American. "I collect these things, too!"

A sixth grader in the Princeton Middle School, Paul's other interests range from Charlie Brown to the flute. He has a dry wit, which delighted the elderly at the Harrison Street development when he gave a series of skits for them.

His adult friends range from Mrs. Doris Smith who taught him in her ungraded classroom last year at Witherspoon School — to the clerks at Hill's Market where he does the family shopping — to Mrs. Wadell of Country Antiques, Nassau Street, who takes him on glorious excursions to the flea market in Englishtown — to Gallery 100 where his paintings so impressed John Borden that he established a credit account for him.

Maybe He Was Lucky.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
On March 5, Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel read a 30 minute speech in Jadwin Gymnasium. Very little if any of the speech could be heard over the steady noise made by a group of demonstrators.

Mr. Hickel should be well pleased and grateful to these demonstrators. They gained him the sympathy and applause of a large portion of the audience (including a standing ovation as he left the podium) and let him get away without having to answer a single question.
Too bad.

CHARLOTTE J. PIERCE
Princeton-Kingston Road

Who Was to Blame?

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Re your article, Thursday, March 12, entitled "Hickel heckled." I was in Jadwin Gym Thursday, March 5, to hear Secretary Hickel.

As one interested in unbiased, factual reporting, I take exception to the report given by TOWN TOPICS. You say, I quote: "A small but vociferous anti-establishment segment of the Jadwin Gym audience," etc., etc., and again, you say, on further in the article, I quote: "Some 75 undergraduate and graduate students chanted a variety of slogans and occasional obscenities."

The fact are: It was the SDS and a few of their sympathizers who behaved in this absolutely repulsive manner to an invited guest speaker of Princeton University.

It is too bad that a fine University like Princeton tolerates members of the SDS among their student body, but at least let's put the blame for rotten behavior where it belongs.

JEAN Z. MARSHALL
230 Library Place

Editor's Note: TOWN TOPICS could not say in factual, unbiased fashion that every one of the dissenters heard in the unfortunate demonstration against Secretary Hickel was either a member of SDS or a sympathizer.

Mutual Aid Suggested.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is the text of a letter I have sent to James J. Hartford, 32 Mason Drive:

I was surprised and distressed to read in Monday's Trenton Times a report indicating that you are out of sympathy with our efforts to enlighten Penn Central commuters regarding their equal rights to adequate and reliable commuter train service.

My assumption had been that, since your organization and ours are moving by different routes towards the same objective of respectable Penn Central commuter service we ought each to welcome and assist the other's efforts in this direction.

Also, I would like to correct any impression I may have left with you during our phone conversation last week that we invite from you or your organization any kind of financial support. We have already invested a sizeable sum in research into the legal aspects of the Penn Central commuter problem and we expect to invest more—with-out the need for any kind of outside financial help.

If and when an actual lawsuit should be undertaken by Penn Central commuters against Penn Central, we have been advised that we would not qualify to participate as a plaintiff in such a suit (since, as an organization, we cannot do not commute). We also feel that Penn Central commuters, being the ultimate beneficiaries of any such suit, should collectively bear its cost (divided as painlessly as possible among approximately 20,000 New Jersey Penn Central commuters).

In the meantime, there is not the slightest reason for you to

$5,000 to Drug Program

Princeton University has given $5,000 to the Princeton United Fund to be used for the Child Guidance drug program.

Announcement of the gift was made to the Fund's Council of Community Services immediately following the March 7 symposium on town-gown problems sponsored jointly by the University and the Council of Community Services.

Child Guidance has a budget of $50,000 for its project. Borough and Township budgets each provide $10,000. The United Fund has allocated $10,000 and additional funds are coming from private donors.

The project's director, Mrs. Hilda Wilesky, has been meeting with young people in the Child Guidance Center; however, she would like quarters elsewhere in town. A central drop-in location, near or on Nassau Street, but not under the Child Guidance roof, is a necessity, she feels.

A COLOR GUARD consisting of three Girl Scout Cadettes from Princeton Troop 1 took part in naturalization ceremonies Monday in Trenton for some 15 new Americans. Mrs. Peter A. Cerulli (second from right) and her husband of 23 Stanworth Drive formerly of Switzerland, were among those naturalized. The Scouts were (l. to r.) Myriam Stettler, Ruth Gershen, and Susan Zenel.

feel that our efforts to inform Penn Central commuters of their legal rights will in any way hamper your current negotiations with Penn Central.
On the contrary, it seems obvious to me that Penn Central will now much prefer to make small concessions to your group than to face alternatively an aroused and informed body of commuters ready to fight for their legal rights in a massive strike before a jury.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Preserve the Watershed.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is the text of a letter we have sent to Theodore Schwartz, Deputy Attorney General of the State of New Jersey.
We are hearing a great many pessimistic thoughts on the status of our environment.
The members of the Dogwood Garden Club of Princeton possess there be no further building in the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed.

Man is part of nature and must use nature in a conservative manner and design with nature rather than against. Man must realize that the time is near at hand when further growth of population and industry is undesirable; where profits are not to be gained for self-interests at the expense of resources, open space, clean air and water and lack of freedom from crowding and neurological stress. Indeed, we will have these things, but we will have them as a part of an intelligent, conscious effort to achieve a healthy, happy world.

The time has come for environmental quality to have primacy over development.
The following is a thought which everyone might take to heart and resolve to follow its tenets: "I expect to pass through this world but once. Any good, therefore, that I can do or any kindness that I can show to my fellow creatures, let me not defer or neglect it, for I shall pass this way again."
The Executive Committee
DOGWOOD GARDEN CLUB

Corresponding Secretary

TWO YOUTHS JAILED
For Assaulting Officers, Two New Brunswick youths are presently in Mercer County Jail awaiting action by a grand jury, charged with assaulting two Township policemen last week.
Walter A. Elmore, 18, and Jeffrey C. Hueston, 19, were arraigned Sunday before Township Judge Burton Peakin and held over on bail of $5,000 each. They were charged with assaulting Ptl. David Cromwell and Ptl. Mario Musso Friday night at a NISIAA tournament basketball game between North Brunswick High School and Thomas Jefferson High. They were also charged with resisting arrest.

According to police, a small scuffle developed after the game between two girls. As the two officers tried to quell the disturbance, they were punched by Elmore, a student at New Brunswick High School, and Hueston, who graduated from the same school last year.
The two officers were able to subdue the youths, however. Ptl. Cromwell is 6-5 and weighs over 200 pounds. Ptl. Anthony Gaylord made the charges.

Will Schools Open Before Labor Day?

School would start the week before Labor Day, under the 1970-71 school calendar scheduled for discussion Tuesday, March 31 at the regular school board meeting.

"Discussion" may be an understatement; many parents are unhappy about the pre-Labor Day start and plan to appear before the board with their protests.

The starting date would be Wednesday, September 2.

Labor Day is the following Monday, September 7. The calendar is by no means nailed permanently to the wall, emphasizes Eugene Bringer, assistant superintendent of schools. Nor would it set a precedent for other years, he says; it's just the way the dates happen to fall.

School has to start either September 2 or the 8th, he points out. Under the contract with the Princeton Regional Education Association, the teachers have 185 staff days of school, which brings their last day to June 17. If school begins September 2.

This schedule accommodates a Christmas vacation from noon December 23 through January 1, a midwinter holiday which takes up two days in February and a maximum spring vacation.

The calendar is not yet part of the new PREA teachers' contract, Mr. Bringer explains. Under the contract's terms, the board is to consult with the PREA — which it has already done — and then adopt the calendar. Only then does the calendar become part of the teachers' contract, Mr. Bringer says.

Hightstown: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Le Compt, 70 Clay Street; Mr. and Mrs. Winston Samario, Plainsboro, and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Conrad, Opussum Road, Skillman, all on March 11; Mr. and Mrs. John Meyer, 6 Rosalind Road, Trenton, March 12; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moscarello, Route 206, Princeton; and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson, Cairns Place, Belle Mead, both on March 13; and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fenley, 4 Cambridge Way, Hightstown, March 14.

ELEVEN ARE FINED
In Borough Court, Eleven Princeton area residents were fined Monday in Borough traffic court by Judge Theodore T. Crumby. Mr. and Mrs. W. Tams Jr., Sharon M. Pond, 19, Knowles Street, Pennington, was fined $15 and had her license revoked for 30 days for careless driving. Mr. and Mrs. John The same offense cost Blair E. Haran, 153 Dorchester Drive, Clark, 18, 8244 Lane, $15.

Failure to obey an officer's signal cost Anna M. Meron, 61, 284 Doolis Lane, and Charles Neider, 65, 24 Southern Way, $15 and $12. For speeding Vincent J. Esposito, 51, 9 Harris Road, paid $18, and Eleanor C. Flory, 43, 83 Adams Drive, $16. Joan Attenuborough, 39, 779 Princeton-Kings Road, and Edward Flanck, 61 Jefferson Road, were each fined $15 for inspection violations.

STUDY PROJECT PLANNED
Toward Environmental Improvement. The week of April 19 to 25 has been proclaimed "Environmental Quality Week" by Mayor Leonard H. Ruppert of Montgomery Township, and members of the Princeton League of women Voters are planning active participation in the various projects.

For the past three years, a study group of the Montgomery Unit of the League has been concerned with an extensive study of water management and sewage disposal in Montgomery. The results of this study will be on display in the Montgomery Shopping Center during the week of April 19.

Using the general theme of "The Age of Aquarius," there will be a large exhibit featuring diagrams and posters explaining the relation of water and its cycle to environment, the nature of water pollution and ways of overcoming it, and the specific and general problems of water management in Montgomery Township. Photographs and maps of both the township and surrounding area will be on display. Members of the League will be present to give out informative material and answer questions. Mrs. Griffin Shay is in charge of the project.

Big, beautiful, colorful floor vases from Denmark and priced from $14.

"Big Brothers" for Fatherless Boys

FOR FATHERLESS BOYS: Wesley W. Walton (left), president of the new Big Brothers live director of Family Service.

After more than 18 months of inquiries, meetings, studies and consultations, "Big Brothers of Greater Princeton" is preparing to launch a program in behalf of fatherless boys age 8 to 14.

"We've found that there are more boys here in situations where they need meaningful male companionship than we're going to be able to accommodate at first," Wesley W. Walton, president, said Sunday at an informal open house held to introduce the project.

Big Brothers will start with about 30 boys whose names are on the "urgent need" list compiled in consultation with guidance counselors in the Princeton and Plainsboro-West Windsor public schools, he said.

Nearly 60 undergraduates at Princeton University have signed in as potential Big Brothers through the Undergraduate Volunteers Association, Dr. Walton added. Several of the students have served as Big Brothers in other towns.

In an arrangement unique for Princeton, Big Brothers has a contract with Family Service whereby it buys the services of a social worker to screen volunteer applications and Little Brother referrals.

"We want to assure a safe 'matching' of boy and adult," the social worker will also serve in a training-advisory capacity to assist the volunteer Big Brothers.

Needed: $30,000. The organization is now marshalling its forces in a two-prong effort: (1) funds in the amount of $28,000 to $30,000 to finance the program for three years; and (2) the matching of boy and man. A direct mail appeal has been sent to community charities and organizations asking support. So far, pledges in the amount of $6,225 and $3,075 in cash have been received by Dr. Ernest Sams, the treasurer.

"We've found that there are more boys here in situations where they need meaningful male companionship than we're going to be able to accommodate at first," Wesley W. Walton, president, said Sunday at an informal open house at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Barenholtz, members of Big Brothers discussed the program with guests.

At Sunday's open house at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Barenholtz, members of Big Brothers discussed the program with guests.

Eleven goals have been set by the group: $30,000 funds; 20 volunteer Big Brothers from the community; six more board members (the organization now has 12); 40 additional memberships in the organization; a dozen tickets a week for week-end events; one car a week for transportation of Big and Little Brothers; a dozen tickets a month for public transportation; two sponsors for outings; six pool parties, and ten pool memberships.

Big Brothers of Greater Princeton, a near-classic study in fragility, has no office or executive director. But it has a mail slot at 199 Nassau Street and it subscribes to a telephone answering service (924-3122).

It has no typist, but communications are typed here and there in the organizations where members are employed. Meetings are held in First Presbyterian Church, Borough Hall, or at the Educational Testing Service, where Dr. Walton is a member of the staff.

Director May Be Added. "We want all of the money to be spent on the boys," Dr. Walton muses, "although the pressure of need may well move us into adding a salaried director when we have the money for it."

The organization is the outgrowth of a conversation held several years ago by Dr. Walton, Ellwood Kauffman and Burnett Sams, all of First Presbyterian Church.

Board members are: Dr. Walton, president; Mr. Kauffman, vice-president; Mr. Sams, treasurer; Mrs. Raymond Male, membership; Burton Peskin, attorney; R. Rogers Carrington, Youth Associates; Rev. Eliot Daley of First Presbyterian Church; Peter Adcock, YMCA; Chaplain N. Barry Dancy of Westminster Choir College; Michael Gilchrist of the Javets; Paul Brown of RCA Laboratories; Olivia S. Miller, Trinity Church.

cluding for the first time Sunday afternoon canoeing for young women, the Saturday YWCA Fun and Sports Club for fourth through twelfth grade girls, and Mini-Makis (games, arts and crafts, and swimming for first through third graders).

Other weekend classes are for junior and senior high girls tennis for beginners and advanced beginners, all levels of girls swimming, and Red Cross Junior Life Saving for sixth to ninth graders (for which a YWCA membership is required). In the evening offerings, English cooking is slated for the first time, and will be taught by Mrs. Thomas Selby, a graduate of the London School of Cooking. Also new are courses in home safety (with a swimming period for members) and Norwegian gymnastics.

Other items in the evening schedule are French conversation, English for the foreign-born, beginners sewing, all levels of ballroom dancing for adults, young people's folk guitar, Kodak Kodakan judo, an exercise, dance, and yoga special. Exercise with a Yoga Touch, beginner and intermediate women's tennis, and all levels of women's swimming. Six clubs are available for women and girls. High school girls can participate in any of three clubs, and women of all ages can select from International Club (young men and women), Newcomers Club (new residents of the Princeton area) or the Friday Club (older women).

Most classes will meet weekly during the ten-week term. Full details on enrollment limits, YWCA membership requirements, financial assistance, and scheduling is available at the YWCA office.

LESSONS FOR SWIMMERS

In Water Safety. Training sessions for water safety instructors will be given next Monday and on Monday, March 30 from 8:30 to 10 p.m. in the YMCA-YWCA pool.

Sponsors are the YWCA, the Princeton Regional Schools and the Princeton Red Cross. Mrs. Bernard Dieckmann, Red Cross Instructor Trainer, will be the teacher.

The 90-minute sessions are designed for anyone who wants to help as a swimming teacher. They are intended particularly for those who will be teaching in the Princeton Regional Schools' sixth-grade swimming program at the Community Park pool in the spring.

A pool fee will be charged at each session, but those who participate do not need either YWCA or YMCA membership.

Registrations may be made at the YWCA, the Red Cross offices, at 71 University Place, or at the first session.

HUN DANCE PLANNED

Reservations Are Necessary. "Spring in Princeton" will be the theme of the annual HUN School Dinner Dance, Saturday April 11. The formal affair will be held at the Princeton Inn with a candlelight dinner, fresh spring flowers and continuous dancing to the music of Meyer Davis.

As a result of last year's dance, 25 area boys are now receiving either full or partial scholarship aid. The deadline for making reservations for this year's dance is March 21. Committee members for the affair are Mesdames Kai Soederman, programs; S. Brown Robinson, decorations; David Laddum, invitations; Arthur Sacks-Wilner, favors; Peter DeMauro Jr., treasurer; Richard Ziegler, reservations; Lester Degenstein and John Wilson III, secretaries; and John Laughlin, publicity. Members at large are Mesdames Paul Chesebro, John Caton, Carroll S. Moore Jr., and Alexander Buck. Patron chairmen are Mrs. Kempton Hastings and Mrs. Robert Merritt.

A LOOK TOWARD 1976

At Meeting Tuesday Night. Assemblyman William Schuler has announced a meeting of mayors, school officials, organizations, historic organizations, and others interested in discussing Mercer County's participation in the 1976 national Bicentennial celebration. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Lawrence Township Municipal Building.

The American Revolution Bicentennial Commission and the New Jersey Historical Commission are well into the task of planning and preparing for the 1976 celebration as a national and statewide levels.

Last August 6, the New Jersey Legislature passed a resolution indicating official support for Philadelphia as the location

"The need for countywide participation and preparation is growing," Mr. Schuler commented. "It is important to know what is going on and to begin planning county participation. Mercer County has a magnificent historical tradition, and we must start now to assume our role in the greatest birthday party in history."

"The March 24 meeting is open to all who have an interest in historical matters," said Mr. Schuler. "After discussing certain phases of the bicentennial, we will attempt to establish some sort of county coordination for the various activities which will be going on in the next several years."

Other members of the State Historical Commission who live in Mercer County include Mrs. Eleanor Shuman of Hightstown; Prof. Julian P. Boyd of Princeton; Roger H. McDonough of Princeton, who serves as director of the New Jersey State Library; and David N. Pounsett of East Windsor, who is supervisor of Historic Sites of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development. Bernard Bush of Ewing Township is executive director of the State Historical Commission, assisted by William Wright of Lawrence Township.

ANTIQUES

Why do we value them? Because they were made by men who took a deep and abiding pride in the work of their hands. And it is the essence of this pride, remaining forever a part of the work produced, that makes the antique priceless.

Both the pride and the product are all but gone today. But not at Cane Farm. Here humble and patient craftsmanship still re-creates the finest from our oldest and most revered traditions . . . furniture, lamps, floor coverings, fabrics. Here, too, your old things can be painstakingly restored, your chairs re-caned or re-rushed.

Whether you want tomorrow's heirlooms crafted to your own specifications or you select from our extensive sampling of wooden and upholstered pieces, the product will, in every sense, be worthy of the name, ANTIQUE, in generations to come.

WELLESLEY SHOW READY
Opens Thursday at PDS: The Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey will hold its 11th annual Antiques Show and Sale. Traditions of East and West this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, at the Princeton Day School on the Great Road. Hours are from noon until 5 p.m. except Saturday when it will close at 4.

Two guest speakers will appear on the theme of the show on Friday at 11 a.m. Mrs. E. McClung Fleming, specialist in ceramics, at the Henry Francis duPont Winterthur Museum in Winterthur, Delaware, will speak on "The China Trade and the young American Nation."

Friday evening at 8:15, "Carpeting the Near East" will be the subject of a talk by Dr. Richard Ettinghausen, Consultative Chairman of the Department of Islamic Art at the Metropolitan Museum of Art and Hagop Kevorkian Professor of Islamic Art at the New York University Institute of Fine Arts. Dr. Ettinghausen, a Princeton resident, is an authority on the ceramics and miniature painting of the Near East as well as an authority on carpets from the Near East.

Quilts on Display. A feature on display throughout the show are quilts from the collection owned by Mrs. Lawrence B. Webster and designed and executed by Mrs. Webster's mother-in-law, Mrs. George Webster. The senior Mrs. Webster began by designing her own quilt patterns when unable to find commercial patterns that pleased her and went on to develop her holding in a profession. Of the 35 quilts which she designed, about a half dozen will be on display, including the much-loved White Dogwood pattern and the crab-sized Keespeake quilt.

For the fifth year, landscape designer Larry Bence of Kale's Nursery will present the center exhibit, replacing last year's formal garden with a Japanese garden in keeping with this year's theme. The display will be divided into two parts: a round garden with a small path leading to a Chinese gate, on the other side of which will be the terrace section with its lantern, water basin and a bamboo from the past, as the Wellesley Club assembles the antiques for the annual Antique Show. Marnie Maxwell (left) and Cindy Gibson look over a Chinese table desk with prunus blossom design (1840-50); an 1830 French carriage clock, a French mantel clock (upper left of desk), a Gaudy cup and saucer; a German figurine and, in Cindy's hand, a brass cell bell. The photograph was taken in the workshop of David Clare, who will be one of the leaders in the show.

Japanese groundcovers and interesting rocks placed in the Japanese manner tie both sections into the harmonious whole.

The Princeton Antiques Show has come to serve a dual purpose, that of bringing to New Jersey residents an opportunity to buy or browse among antiques brought from other cities and states by distinguished dealers carefully selected from the many who ask to show their wares, as well as contributing to the development of Wellesley College and to the May Margaret Fine Scholarship Fund. This scholarship fund has been awarded through the years to 19 area girls. Since the first show in 1960, the Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey has seen more than $36,000 to the college.

Arrangements for the show were begun months ago under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Walter G. Gibson and Mrs. Gordon R. Munger, with the following co-chairmen: exhibitors, Mrs. George L. Moller, Jr. and Mrs. Anthony W. Tabell; staging, Mrs. James T. Beck; refreshments, Mrs. Erling Dorf and Mrs. Everett B. Garretson; program, Mrs. H. James Hering and Mrs. Helmut Weymer; printing and speakers, Mrs. Willis C. Armstrong; patrons, Mrs. J. C. Gulick; hostesses, Mrs. I. Richard Spicer; central, Miss Barbara Delaney; Mrs. Charles E. Gilles and Mrs. A. James Meigs; publicity, Mrs. Bryce Maxwell and Mrs. William A. Stuart.

Tickets may be obtained at the door for $2 or in advance at the pre-show price of $1.50 by sending a check to: The Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey, 7 Van Kirk Road, Princeton.

SEMINARS ON DRUGS
YMCA the Sponsor, "The Distant Drummer" will be the title of a three-session seminar on Drugs and Drug Abuse offered to youth and adults by the Princeton YMCA beginning Wednesday, April 1.

The Seminars will also meet on Wednesday, April 8 and 15, all starting at 7:45 p.m. with the purpose of providing objective information on drugs through film and by a resource person each evening. The program is available without cost to all interested, but on a pre-registration basis since enrollment will be limited.

THE TITLE, "Distant Drummer," comes from a series of three films recently produced and shown on prime television time, which are provided by the National Institute of Mental Health. The first session's film, titled, "Bridge from No Place" is narrated by Rod Seiger.

It sketches current techniques of rehabilitation — the need for exiles to communicate and reinforce their own positive commitment to stay off drugs; the need for community action by exiles; the need to attack not the problem from the abusers' point of view as well as from the source, and score the legal.

CLUB News

West Windsor Democratic Club Officers for 1972 have been elected. They are Mrs. Patricia S. Bell, president; Mrs. Ida McIlhenny, first vice president; Herbert Horowitz, second vice president; Mrs. Betty Burke, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Brigitte Sundling, recording secretary; and Mrs. Helen Chase, treasurer. Elected as directors for the year were William A. Stuart, Seldon D. Bacon and Elmer Mollugh.

The Women's College Club of Princeton announces the founding of a Memorial Scholarship loan fund, which will make interest-free loans to women undergraduates who have advanced past freshman level at an accredited college or university.

The loan fund is not a new idea, as the club began giving such loans without interest in 1918 and continued the plan until 1942. At that time it was terminated in favor of scholarships for outstanding graduates of Princeton High School and Miss Fine's, which still continue. Several recent founding gifts have made the college loan plan feasible again, and loans will be offered this year.

The loans are financed by gifts given in honor or memory of any person, by either members or non-members of the Women's College Club. As outstanding loans are repaid, the money will be available for use again, creating a perpetual memorial fund.

A memorial book will be kept by the College Club, containing the names of all persons honored or memorialized in the fund. Contributions are always welcome and should be directed to Mrs. Paul Swinnerton of 136 Randall Road.

students from the college and see a new film about the college.

Cornell Club: Thursday, March 26, at 8:15 p.m. at the Princeton Inn, to hear the university's new Ombudsman, Prof. Alice Cook, explain her duties. The post was created after the campus disturbances last year, as an attempt to improve communications and grievance procedures among the students, faculty and administration.

Alumni and friends are invited as well as parents of Cornell students, applicants to Cornell and their parents. Refreshments will follow.

Princeton Sceptomist Club: four new members were installed at the last meeting: Lillian Goeller, co-owner of Princeton Towne and Country Real Estate; Ruth Schenck, co-owner of Windsor Toy and Hobby; Jo Woodley, owner of Improv-Tinn Boutique; and Myrna Baron of the Delaware Raritan TB & RD Association.

The club will sell trees and shrubs again this spring to support its projects: white pines and hemlocks four feet high, and 2 1/2 foot mountain laurel and rhododendron will be available at $3 a plant, plus tax. Orders must be placed by April 16, and pickup will be May 2 at the Princeton Shopping Center. Or-

West Windsor PTA: Thursday at 8 in Maurice Hawk School to hear an address on "Sex Education and Family Life," given by Dr. Gere B. Fulton, associate professor and coordinator of health education at Trenton State College. The new state law on sex education and its implementation in the public schools will be discussed, and a question-and-answer period will follow. Refreshments have been arranged by Mrs. Monroe Stambough.

Friday Club Slides and commentary on the Jerusalem-Bethlehem Area will be presented at the Friday Club of the Princeton YWCA this Friday at 12:30 p.m., at the YWCA, Avalon Place.

The Rev. James Weaver will speak. Mrs. Ruth Thornton will provide piano entertainment during the luncheon.

Dr. Weaver, pastor of the Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church, since 1962, took the slides during a 1968 Holy Land trip.

Transportation requests should be made to the YWCA office before 11 a.m. Friday.

Montgomery Township PTA: "Detection and early correction" are the theme of the pre-school vision screening program for children 3 1/2 to 5, which will be given at Burnt Hill Road School on Thursday, March 26, from 9:30 to 11 and from 1 to 3. Children will be tested by trained PTA volunteers under the supervision of Anne O'Hara, R.N.

The program is co-sponsored by the New Jersey State Commission for the Blind, and is aimed at catching "amblyopia," weak eye development, and a number of other eye problems which can be treated only if detected before age 6, when visual growth is completed. In a similar program last year, more than 10,000 children were screened across the state. 1,000 were found to have eye problems and were referred for complete eye examinations.

Uncorrected eye defects can influence a child's ability to learn in school, or may result in permanently impaired vision. Co-

ART In Princeton

ON VIEW AROUND TOWN
At Fine Art Galleries, Walk-in, in the Gallery of Fine Art on Spring Street in the mid of their haunting for the next show. I found the brilliant-colored "Black Lake" (pastel) striking. The heavy impasto paint quality and the pure colors combine to give the painting richness. There is something in the space created by the thin green line placed high on the canvas and overlapped by warm, forward-moving colors.

Next to this vibrant painting is a black and white watercolor, "Nudes and Nature." In it, the beautiful forms and their relationships to each other are emphasized. The seriousness of the edges and the large forms combined with the small outlined areas are reminiscent of Matisse.

On Campus. The whole family can enjoy a visit to the sculpture show by James Seawright at the Princeton University Art Museum. It is a fascinating show which forces the viewer to become involved with each work of art. To stand and look is not enough; one must make sounds—clap or speak and look beyond the surface to get at what the artist has created for our appreciation.

When we become involved, lights sparkle, sounds emanate and surfaces mysteriously change. It is well worth a visit.

ARTS FESTIVAL SET
For April and May. Some 46 organizations, schools and galleries are planning events and exhibits as part of a Princeton Festival of the Arts this spring, dedicated to the belief that art lifts the spirit in an environment that is becoming more complicated and impersonal.

Preliminary plans for the festival were made at an open meeting of the Arts Council last week. The council, itself, will publish a special brochure covering the festival, which will run through April and May.

Some of the events during April include the "Environmental Hang-Up" April 11-19 (see box, this page); the Princeton Musical Armateurs performance of Randall Thompson's "Mass of the Holy Spirit," conducted by Leon Dubois at Woodworth Center, April 19; a Creative Arts Festival at Princeton Day School, April 21 and 22; the Princeton Ballet Society's annual performance at McCarter Theatre, April 26; Handel's "Concerto Grosso" with choir and orchestra at Trinity Church, April 28; and at the First Presbyterian Church an exhibit of Henry Martin cartoons and a "Paint-In" for young people.

In May, the Regional School will hold art exhibits in all the schools, Stuart Country Day School will stage special exhibit on ecology, and the Chilean artists Fernando Tom and Francisco Copello (artists' shops both in Chile and in New York. Tom's flower motif used with pure silk-screen color and an embossed metal plate make a pure clear impact on the observer. The more complex multiple prints of Copello's rely on combining geometric embossed forms with almost photographic images.

Experimentation is an important element in Lilliana Porter's drawings. She uses combinations of paper, plexiglass, printing and crumpled paper for her unusual line drawings.

From Argentina, her images could be "urban" man anywhere in the world today. "Nobody's Portrait" shows man's alienation with his image of himself by a blurred multiple image.

At Present Day Club, The Present Day Club is fortunate to have well-known artist from Doylestown, Randolph Bye, showing his work "Signal Tower," an extremely competently executed watercolor, is an excellent example of his style.

His brisk brushwork denoting an old railroad train signal tower juxtaposed with the steel riders of more modern equipment contrasts with the lovely softness of a natural tree form. He often uses strong structural sharpness with softer forms to create his impressive traditional watercolor.

Open Meeting on the Arts

The Arts Council of Princeton will sponsor a symposium and general discussion on Monday at 8 p.m. at the Public Library to explore ways in which it may be more effective in assisting the various art groups in town.

Guest speakers will be Michael Berman, Director of the Moorsdown Recreation Department; Judith Hardy, architect, John Everitt, New Jersey Cultural Council in Bergen County; Edgar M. Gummel of Princeton, public relations consultant; Mrs. Edward Hasenborg of Middlesex County Arts Association; Byron Kelsey, Executive Director of the New Jersey Council of the Arts; and Mrs. James Laude of the New Jersey State Junior League.

It is hoped that the meeting will provide an opportunity for all who are interested in the arts in Princeton to learn of the most recent developments in New Jersey in this field.

Princeton Barber Shop Harmony group, the Public Library, YMCA, Princeton's University Museum, and all the galleries in town are planning events and exhibits at this time.

Spring Painting: Plaques Replace Fence

For those aspiring artists who missed a chance to display their talents in last year's "Fence Paint-In" another "meaningful art experience" has been scheduled for the latter part of April as part of a Princeton Festival of the Arts.

The "Environmental Hang-Up," as it has been named, is being jointly sponsored by the Princeton Ecology group and the Princeton Art Association in cooperation with the Arts Council. The impetus came from a number of concerned students at the University, led by Larry Campbell, in preparation for the Environmental Teach-In on campus planned for this spring.

On Saturday, April 11, at noon 100 4'x4' mosaic equines will be issued on a first-come-first-served basis to any student, seventh grade and up. The plaques are to be painted on both sides on the theme "Ecology of Our Environment" and returned Sunday, April 19, at noon to be hung. The two sites chosen so far for the exhibit will be the bank plaza at Palmer Square and the Princeton railroad station.

The Contemporary Garden Club, the Dogwood Garden Club, the Princeton Garden Club and the Stony Brook Garden Club have volunteered to plant and maintain floral displays at the railroad station and Palmer Square during the spring. In addition, a special agent for the Penn Central Railroad indicated during a discussion at the open meeting of the Arts Council last week that if the paint were provided the Penn Central might provide the labor to refurbish the Princeton Station.

HISTORIC WATERCOLORS

Battle of Princeton Featured

The Nation's coming 20th anniversary of the battle of Princeton is being marked with a limited, numbered edition of nine watercolor depictions of the battles of Trenton and Princeton, 1776-1777. This pre-bicentennial series, being presented by the College Watercolor Group, is an organization which produces, individually-rendered watercolor paintings of familiar scenes, particularly colleges and universities. Mr. Gray, long-time N. J. resident whose works are familiar to growing numbers of art lovers and collectors, is a graduate of Dartmouth College and the Philadelphia Academy of the Fine Arts. He brings to the series with his talent and watercolor skills, a substantial knowledge of the American Revolution and in particular, the well known battles of Trenton and Princeton.

The result is a remarkable portfolio of nine matched paintings, carefully developed around existing landmarks, depicting in detail each of the key points of the battles. The portfolios will be dated, numbered, and registered in the order of requests received from subscribers, and include the following scenes:

1. Final decision to attack Trenton at the Thompson-Neely House (Washington's crossing State Park, Pa.), Dec. 28, 1776.
2. Crossing the Delaware from near McKonkey's Ferry (from the Pa. Side), Dec. 25, 1776.

3. Surprise attack at Hessian Barracks in Trenton, 8 a.m., Dec. 26, 1776.
4. Desperate flanking movement on night of Jan. 2, 1776, while British reinforcements gathered across the Assump-

Creek in Trenton.

5. Continental Troops marching on old Quaker Bridge Road within sight of Quaker Meeting House, muskets shining in the early morning sun, Jan. 3, 1777.
6. Skirmish at Princeton Battlefield where General Mercer of American Forces was mortally wounded by the "Mercer Oak" and carried to the Mercer Farmhouse, Jan. 3, 1777.

7. Subsequent victorious skirmish at Nassau Hall, Jan. 3, 1777.
8. Washington making critical decision on Kingston Road to halt his advance on the British at New Brunswick and instead head for cover to the North-west, afternoon of Jan. 5, 1777.
9. The encampment of Washington and his troops at the Van Doren House and the Reformed Church in Millstone, the first night after the Battle of Princeton.

Map Also Offered. Each painting measures 11" x 14" (matted size), and is an individually rendered watercolor over lithographed penline. With each painting comes a detailed map showing position and description of each of the scenes and its significance to the battles.

The portfolio collection, presently on display at the galleries of the College Watercolor Group, 315 West Washington Road, 3 1/2 miles northwest of Hopewell in Wertsville, is priced at $10 per painting, matted and ready for framing. They may also be purchased already framed in grey-brown hardwood frames for an additional $5.

The College Watercolor Group has also collaborated with Mr. Gray in a number of non-limited series to be found in galleries under the heading of Gray's Watercolors. Scenes currently available include familiar landmarks in and around Princeton, Trenton, Hopewell, Pennington, New Hope, Flemington, New Brunswick and Morristown. Also included are series of the more than 100 different college campuses, many of which can be ordered directly from The College Watercolor Group, Box 56, Skillman, 08558, and some of which can be acquired directly through the alumni offices of individual colleges.

Surprise attack at Hessian Barracks 8 a.m. Dec. 26, 1776.

An addition of diction is a new door — Home or Office

You are invited to experience the pleasure of owning a complete and original edition of this handsome, pre-bicentennial portfolio of 9 superbly rendered watercolors . . .

by DAVIS GRAY

"No where in the annals of warfare can be found counterparts of the campaigns of Washington's army in 1776-1777—that army, which left the vicinity of New York a ragged, starved, demoralized band which passed through the Jerseys and over the river then dashed upon the Hessian advance, punished the flank of the British line, doubled back on its own bloody tracks through the village of Princeton, and at last marched into quarters, an army of victors."

William S. Stryker, Adj. Gen. of N. J. and President of N. J. Historical Society, 1898

That remarkable moment in history is splendidly captured in an historically significant series of nine meticulously researched paintings—carefully developed around existing familiar landmarks, commemorating the turning point of the American Revolution almost 200 years ago, portraying the action of each key point of the battles in startling detail.

SUBSCRIPTION CLOSES APRIL 30, 1970

This numbered, original edition of nine scenes is available by advance subscription only and will be limited to only requests received before April 30, 1970. Each painting, measuring 11" x 14" (matted size) will be actual, individually-rendered watercolor over lithographed penline. The value of these handsome sets will be substantially increased by the number and date of each, recorded in the order received — the lower the number, the greater the potential value.

A Treasure of Fine Art Especially Commissioned

Davis Gray has been commissioned to do this historical series by The College Watercolor Group because of an unusually fine technique which has earned him a national reputation as an award-winning watercolorist. A man of impressive talent, Mr. Gray brings to this undertaking not only his accomplishments as an extraordinary watercolorist, but a genuine interest and substantial knowledge of the American Revolution as well.

This is indeed a rare opportunity — a portfolio of matched paintings depicting a critical moment in the history of our nation — which offers to the subscriber at once unmatched artistry, historical significance, and an excellent potential for increased worth, based on the limited number. In addition, each scene will be accompanied by a carefully executed map of troop movement and places of decision dramatically portrayed in each of the paintings — an educational experience as well as an aesthetic one.

Excellent Investment Potential

As true collectors and connoisseurs know well, the value of art steadily increases no matter how the winds of change may blow, and among the world's enduring art treasures, those which seem to have particular value are often those which relate to historical events.

Priced at only $10 a painting, matted and ready for framing, this fine series is an ideal beginning for the person interested in acquiring a personal collection of historical paintings as well as an exciting bonus for the knowledgeable, experienced collector.

For your convenience, you may order your paintings framed in handsome, hand-crafted frames of hardwood with inset of soft-toned grey linen, highlighted with an inner border of gold trim which adds dignity and beauty to any decor and color scheme. These are available for an additional $5.00 per painting, shipped and handling charges included.

So to begin your valuable new art collection while at the same time decorating your home, office, reception room, or den with a handsome, meaningful reminder of our nation's heritage, send in your request now to insure you the lowest possible series number of this limited series.

Musical History Made at McCarter

Henryk Szeryng, violinist, and Charles Reiner, pianist, were heard in recital at McCarter Theatre on Monday night. Mr. Szeryng (pronounced Schering) is a native of Belgium who now makes his home in Mexico where he is a naturalized citizen.

As a violinist, however, he is a citizen of the world. His playing is so superb that one can only sit in awe while this renowned musician performs his repertoire with such apparent ease.

The program included the Sonata in Bb Major, K. 454 by Mozart; the Partita No. 2 in D Minor for Solo Violin by Bach; and after intermission, shorter convolutions by Manuel Ponce, a "Sonata Breve"; the "Danza de la Gitanas" by Ernesto Hoffer, in a transcription by Jascha Heifetz; Szymanowski's "Song of Rozana"; and "Moto Perpetuo" by Ottokar Novacek.

The Mozart Sonata is a gem. The Bach Partita, with the Lento Chaconne in the final movement, represents the Baroque master at the height of his creative powers.

Yet somehow, both these works should not be programmed back to back. Nevertheless, it is hard to imagine hearing a better performance of either work.

In the Mozart, Mr. Reiner supported Mr. Szeryng's violin artistry with equal sensitivity in shaping the piano lines with fastidious care and precision. There was warmth and color to Mr. Reiner's pianism throughout the evening but nowhere was it more essential and more rewarding than in the Mozart score.

A Cool Detachment. Mr. Szeryng, on the other hand, played with an almost cool

"Barbershop" Concert Set

The first formal concert of the Princeton chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America will take place Saturday, May 9, in the John Witherspoon School auditorium. In addition to familiar old favorites rendered by the 40-voice chorus, the program will feature clowning and singing by the "DelChordians" of Delaware County, Pa., and several quartets.

The Princeton chapter was chartered last summer by the International SPERSSQA, and has given several informal performances in this area. All SPERSSQA chapters are nonprofit organizations, and proceeds from ticket sales for the May concert here will go to the Institute of Locomotives, a speech-correction center in Wichita, Kan.

detachment, yet so suavely and serenely, that one came to value this approach to the Mozart (and Bach) for that matter just as much as any interpretation.

Mr. Szeryng does not play with the passionate fervor of an Isaac Stern, let us say, or the vigorousness of a Heifetz or an Oistrakh, but his tone is so rich and pure, so well controlled that one could listen to this man for hours. Though his emotional involvement with the music he plays appears less apparent than other great concert violinists we have heard, there is a balance within in every interpretation by Mr. Szeryng that creates its own emotional impact, and in this respect, his performance was emotionally satisfying and musically stimulating.

Noting this, then, one can extend that Mr. Szeryng's rendition of the Bach Partita was so well managed technically and emotionally that he brought the work to a most exciting climax in the heightened moments of the Chaconne. This was one of the great moments in McCarter's musical history and one that will be treasured by those present for many years to come.

The second half of the program brought out the lighter side of Mr. Szeryng's temperament, and the music was played with the same remarkable finesse as was the music of the first half. There were encores of course, one by Locatelli, with dazzling bell-like effects that were quite unique, and as a final encore, the 17th Hungarian Dance of Brahms, which brought the evening to a spirited close.

TWO OPERAS SCHEDULED

Sunday in Philadelphia. Appearing for the third time as guests of the City of Philadelphia, the Princeton Opera Association will present two short operas at the Theatre of the Convention Center on Sunday at 3 p.m. The operas are "The Impresario" by Mozart, and "The Wandering Scholar" by Gustav Holst.

The 10-year-old Princeton Opera Association is in the midst of an active season which will be highlighted by two performances of Gounod's "Faust" at McCarter Theatre on May 22 and 23. Information on auditions and production may be obtained by calling Mrs. Virginia Schley, 921-2148.

Cast chorus and orchestra will be performing at McCarter under the direction of Igor Chigov, Russian-born musician who is a former conductor of the Baltimore Civic Opera Company and member of the opera department at the Berkshire Music Center. He has also conducted the NBC-TV Opera Company.

Performances have been given by the Opera Association at the Commercial Museum in Philadelphia, Trenton's War Memorial Theatre, Columbus and Cadwalader Parks in Trenton, Washington Crossing State Park Outdoor Theatre, New Brunswick's Johnson Park, McCarter Theatre and at many schools throughout the area. In 1965 the Association was given the honor of performing for the New Jersey State Cultural Center Theatre in Trenton.

BELGIAN PIANIST HERE

For First American Concert, Belgian pianist Pierre Huybrechts will give his American debut recital at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Playhouse on the Westminster Choir College campus.

Although he has given many concerts in Austria, Luxembourg, Germany, France, Great Britain, and Ireland, this is Mr. Huybrechts' first one in the United States. His recital is open to the public without charge.

His program for the evening includes Symphonies Nos. 13 with posthumous variations, Robert Schumann's Polonaise Study (1935), Jof Ver-men's, and Preludes by Claude Debussy.

Born in Antwerp, Belgium, Mr. Huybrechts completed his musical education at the Royal Flemish Conservatoire in Antwerp where he was awarded the first prize in 1956. He has studied with Emile Bosquet, Jenny Solheid, and Stephan Askense in Brussels; and Margriet Loefer in Paris, and with Walter Panhofer in Vienna.

TRAINING COURSE SET

In August at Choir College. Dr. Francis Jackson, organist and master of the music at York Minster in England, will come to Princeton to direct a five-day training course for boy choristers and chormasters to be held August 2-7, under the joint sponsorship of England's Royal School of Church Music and Westminster Choir College.

The special course, the second to be sponsored by the Royal School in the U.S., will be held on the Choir College's campus and will be limited to 120 choristers and 60 chormasters from churches across the country. There will be a series of lectures on choral repertoire and service music, an other series on organ repertoire, and demonstrations of boy choir training techniques, talks on new trends in church music and changing liturgical patterns, practical discussions of how to reach the public more effectively, and how to promote one's music program within the parish and community.

Question Of The Week

Question: In your opinion, can the Mets — a 100-to-1 shot last year — do it again this season?

Where asked: Around town.

Paul Lippmann, Princeton Junction: Of course — without a doubt, if they get the spirit behind them. Obviously, they have the players and the talent or they wouldn't have won it the first time. They have the team. All they need is the same Met spirit to carry them across.

Lonnie Scheetz, Leith Avenue, student, Mercer County Community College: No, I don't think so. They were good last year, there's no denying that. They had a lot of determination but I don't think they'll pull it off again. I think they were just a little bit too lucky last year and I don't see them having all that luck again.

Mike Fuschini, 69 Birch Avenue, bus driver for Tenacre: I don't see it. I may be going out on a limb but I think Allen will win it for St. Louis. If he plays all year, I can't see them losing. He hits the ball harder than anybody I've seen. The Mets will be close but I can't see them winning it; I just think St. Louis has a better team. I'm a Giant fan but it looks like second or third again.

Hazel Hargis, Ewing Township, Princeton University mail room employee: No, I don't think the Mets will do it again. I think St. Louis will win it with Richie Allen and the ball players they have. Last year they had a little let down but Allen will spark the team — if he stays there. The Mets have good pitching — I'll grant you that — but I don't see Mr. Seever having the season he had last year.

Paul Toon, Trenton, Princeton University Firestone Library employee: Yes, easy, because of their pitching. They have the best pitching staff in the major leagues. They'll win by 10 games; I'll be a breeze. Tommy Agee will hit .300 and knock in close to 100 — he's the heart of the Met team. Seaver and Koosman will win 43 games between them. Over 20 for both of them. Tug McGraw will pitch at least 12 games. ... People don't realize how good the Met pitching is. They're seven deep!

Question Of The Week

Joe Raldisio, 511 Ewing Street, electrician for R. F. Johnson: If the Mets' pitching is as good as it was last year, they'll win again. I think they'll be even stronger in the field. ... Joy Foy at third base will be a big help. I think they have one of the youngest ball clubs in baseball history. I pick the Cards second.

Pete Nini, 38 Hillside Road, owner of Nini Glass Company, Route 206: No, I don't think the Mets will win again. I think the Mets were lucky last year and I don't think they'll be that lucky two years in a row. Everything they threw in there last year worked for them. I think if they keep Richie Allen's brains straight, St. Louis is going to win this year.

Bob Cox, West Windsor, owner of Cox's, 188 Nassau Street: Sure they can — mainly on their pitching. Basically, they have the same team as last year while the other teams aren't that much improved. There's too much confusion on the other teams — Allen and the Cards; the Mets are a settled club. Foy will help, too. Third base used to be a turnover spot for them, now it looks like they have that settled. He should be real good. Once a Met fan, always a Met fan. So they have to win.

Robbie Kraft, Ridgeview Road, Laurenceville School student: No, I think the reason they won last year was it was sort of a freakish year. Obviously, they had a lot of talent, but their winning sort of summed up the entire year; it was a fluke. It was that kind of a year. I'm all for the Mets, but I doubt if they can do it again.

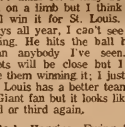

Les Hartman, Hamilton Township, excavating contractor: I don't think so. I think it was due more to the Cards' downfall than the Mets won last year. The Mets have a good pitching staff but everything was just clicking for them last year; I don't see it happening again.

Bob Cromwell, 349 Walnut Street, PHS student: Yes, sure! Because they are as strong if not stronger than last year. And they also have the added confidence of winning last year. They know they just weren't lucky.

Peter Ferrara, 476 N. Harrison Street, PHS student and gas attendant: Yes, I do. They have almost all the same guys back they had last year and a lot of guys like Swoboda didn't deliver at the beginning. Swoboda came on strong at the end, and I don't see why he can't have a good year from the start. The whole team didn't take themselves seriously at the beginning. Now they know they can win and they'll go all out from the start.

The Tigers took last spring on their way to a 14-7 mark. Percentage-wise, it was a good enough to qualify for an NCAA District II berth, but the Orange and Black was disqualified on a technicality when Dartmouth won the Ivy title and was selected to play in the NCAA tournament in District I. Regulations prohibit two teams from the same league partaking in NCAA playoffs, even though they are in separate districts.

Senior Bob Wolff, who had a 4-2 record and a 2.28 ERA, is the only returning pitcher with much experience as a starter. A right-hander, he is a junk-ball artist with good control. Another righty, junior Jack Hilson, was used mostly in relief, split his two decisions, and will be given starting assignments while the Tigers are in the south.

The top two sophomores from a league which last year won 10 while losing 4 are Blake Gall, a southpaw, and Steve McLean, a right-hander. Last year's freshmen hit well while defeating a majority of their opponents; to what extent Gall and McLean can round out the varsity pitching staff remains to be seen.

Infield Back Inact. If Eddie Donovan, now nearing the end of his second decade as the Tigers' coach, needs pitching depth, he is usually well served where. Annie Holberg, one of the top catchers Princeton has had in its long baseball history, will return for his final year after hitting .313 last spring.

A rarity at Princeton — a junior who is an all-league choice in his first year on the varsity —

AS THE OUTDOOR SEASON NEARS: Princeton's John Conroy and PHS coach Bill Humes will be ready for the spring session of the Princeton Community Tennis Program. Conroy will instruct the advanced women's classes and the Gold Cup boys and girls, while Humes will lead the Silver Cup boys and girls. Both coaches were featured in a recent "how-to" guide for school instructors in "Scholeastic Coach" magazine. Silver Cup classes for boys this spring will be held at PDS, not at PHS as indicated in the Spring Brochure.

Rounding out the infield are veterans John Rooney at second; Todd Faulkner, the shortstop who will captain the team for a second season; and Ray Hurd, the capable third baseman. His strong arm may be converted to part time pitching duty if the need arises.

Paul Colburn is the only hold-over in the outfield, where he will play center again. There are numerous candidates for the other starting positions in the outer defense, with the job going to those who can hit. Among them is sophomore Hank Bjorklund, the promising football tailback.

MRS. MOYER WINS AGAIN

Triumphs at Pretty Brook. Mrs. Lee Moyer of Elm Road continues to sweep all before her in squash competition.

Last week, she won the 11th annual Princeton Squash Racquets Association tournament held at the Pretty Brook Tennis Club, losing only one game. In the finals, she defeated her Princeton neighbor, Mrs. Jerome Webster of Brookstone Drive, 15-6, 17-12, 12-5.

In a consolation match, Mrs. W. Hollis Tegarden defeated Mrs. John Healey, 15-11, 15-10, 15-9. Mrs. John Buid was awarded a cup as the association's most improved player. Mrs. W. Pepper Constable of Rosedale Road, five-times na-

It's easier to drive than a Volkswagen.

Just for the record, there are two kinds of Volkswagens around:

The Volkswagen.

And the Volkswagen with an automatic stick shift.

Now the idea of driving a Volkswagen with a regular stick shift may scare you.

But the idea of driving a Volkswagen with an automatic stick shift, shouldn't.

It makes everything very easy.

It does away with the clutch pedal.

It does away with shifting every other mile. (You merely put it in Drive 1 to start. Then Drive 2 at 55 mph.)

And best of all, it doesn't do away with giving you a good 25 miles to a gallon of gas. (The average car only gives you 14.)

After all, why make a Volkswagen that's easy to drive.

If you take away the best reason for driving it.

PRESIDENT OUT AT ADR
Bennett Replaces Jones. The board of directors of Applied Data Research, computer software and service company on Route 206, has elected John T. Bennett as president and chief executive officer. He succeeds Richard C. Jones, who has resigned as president and director.

Mr. Bennett, 47, joined Applied Data Research as manager of its Washington, D.C. office in 1966 and since 1968 he has served as corporate vice president for marketing. Mr. Jones was elected president of Applied Data Research in 1963.

Henry R. Wickenden, board chairman of Applied Data Research, said that the board and Mr. Jones had reached points of differences in management and operational philosophy in such areas as acquisition policy.

corporate structure and management controls.

Mr. Wickenden said, "The board and Mr. Jones agreed that a new management was necessary. Mr. Jones is a dynamic individual who led the company during its formative years into a prominent position in the software industry. It is now felt that a more structured management approach is in order. Mr. Bennett is familiar with the problems facing our company and has the ability to deal with them effectively. We look forward to a strengthening of our overall operations during the year."

ADR's last earnings report showed a decrease from 28 cents a share in 1968 to 11 cents last year. In the past three months, the stock on the American Exchange has dropped from 22 to 8 1/2.

Mr. Bennett, a graduate of the University of Virginia with a BS in commerce, has spent the past 20 years in the data processing industry. From 1949 until he joined Applied Data Research in 1966, he was associated with Burroughs Corporation, Univac Division of Sperry Rand and Collins Radio Co. The board of directors also elected Kenneth H. Cowan to be vice president/product marketing. Mr. Cowan was a manager and officer of Data & Information Products, n.c., a wholly-owned sales subsidiary of Applied Data Research.

VICE PRESIDENTS NAMED
At Carter-Wallace. Two major appointments were announced this week at the manufacturing division of Carter-Wallace, Inc., of Cranbury. Raymond H. Compton, who was director of purchases, has been appointed vice president materials management, and John J. Kearns has been named vice president production and engineering. From his former post of director of production control, traffic and customer service.

The announcement was made by company president Kirby Peake. Carter-Wallace makes and markets prescription drugs, proprietary medicines, toiletries, food specialities and pet products.

A native of Elizabeth and a 1919 Princeton graduate, Mr. Compton lives with his wife and their daughter on Dublin Road, Pennington. In his new position he will have overall responsibility for purchasing materials used by all divisions of Carter-Wallace in this country. He will also supervise production planning, distribution and inventory control.

Mr. Kearns specialized in research on shortening and margarines with Lever Brothers for ten years after receiving his bachelor's degree from Columbia University in 1949. He authored two patents before 1960 when he obtained his MS from Stevens Institute of Technology, later joining the French division of Carter-Wallace in 1962. Mr. Kearns lives with his wife and their children at 6 Pine Knoll Drive, in Lawrence Township.

In April, Uncle Sam Will Be Counting On You

The 1970 Decennial Census, a time to count up not only people, but elevators, bedrooms, second homes and flush toilets, is scheduled to begin April 1.

Sometime late this month, all households will receive one of three census forms by mail. Most homes will be asked to fill in a regular form, expected to take no longer than 15 minutes. Two different and somewhat longer forms will be sent to a random sample of residences, and will require additional answers and time.

The basic forms will seek information on the family, race and living quarters. The longer forms will include queries on education, earnings, occupation, number of bedrooms, household fuel and appliances, marriage and disability.

Over the years since the census began in 1790, there have been proposals to add several more questions, such as: Do you belong to a union? Which one? Do you own a piano? Do you smoke cigarettes? What kind of exterior building material is used for your residence? Do you believe in God? While gradually expanding its forms over the years, the bureau has tried to ask only those questions deemed essential for gathering data for use by government agencies, states, counties, etc., and none of the foregoing was accepted.

In densely-populated areas, including the entire state of New Jersey, people will be asked to return the forms by mail in a post-paid envelope. The census-taker will come to the home only if the form is not returned. The Census Bureau is making an all-out effort to cut down on "missing persons." By its calculations, it estimates that as many as 5.7 million people may have been missed during the 1960 census, including extra large numbers of minority groups. The percentage of missing blacks may have been as high as 16 percent, the bureau feels.

Figures for Princeton Borough show its population stood at 11,880 in 1960, a decline of 34 percent from 1950. From the time the first count of the Borough was tabulated a century ago, no decrease had been recorded until the "flight to the suburbs" which took place during the decade ending in 1960.

Princeton Township, on the other hand, has had its ups and downs. In 1950, for example, there were 1,138 people living there, whereas ten years later, the number had dropped to 809. The influx of new residents was slow at times — between a special census taken in 1915 and the decennial year of 1930, the Township's increase was exactly 10 people.

The biggest jump came from 1950 to 1960, when the population increased from 3,467 to 11,880, or 240 percent. Unofficial estimates are that today, the Borough has probably pushed past the 12,000 mark again, while the Township may have moved close to 15,000.

LIBRARY SELECTED

Designed by Fulmer & Bowers. A college library designed by Fulmer and Bowers, Architects, 341 Nassau Street, has been selected for display at the International College and University Conference and Exposition held this week at Convention Hall, Atlantic City.

Mahoney Library at the College of Saint Elizabeth, Convent Station, New Jersey, is among 101 recent college buildings of many nations to be exhibited. Projects were evaluated on the basis of architectural quality and innovation in the use of spaces, structural systems, building materials, mechanical systems and land use.

The library is the latest accomplishment in Fulmer and Bowers' growing emphasis on facilities for higher education. Since designing all the buildings for Cumberland County College, New Jersey's first community college, the firm has served Mercer County College, Westminster Choir College, Wilson College in Chambersburg, Pa., The College of Saint Elizabeth, The University of Rhode Island and Trenton State.

SALES AT $4.9 BILLION

Western Electric Reports. Western Electric, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System, closed its books on 100 years of operation in 1969 by posting record total sales approaching $4.9 billion, the company announced this week.

Its annual report revealed that 1969 sales to Bell Telephone companies exceeded $1 billion, an increase of 20% over 1968. Government sales totaled $681 million, up $141 million.

In the central New Jersey area, the year was marked by considerable expansion of company facilities. Last June, the company dedicated its new $5 million Corporate Education Center in Hopewell Township.

The new facility is believed to be the largest and most complete industrial education center in the country. It currently offers some 315 college level courses for company engineers and managers and will handle up to 6,000 employees-students per year. Nearby, at Western Electric's Engineering Research Center (ERC), construction was started in 1959 on a three-story addition which will provide 72,000 square feet of new research and office space.

In addition, a 41,000-square foot building in Forgeste Park, Monroe Township, was leased for a long-term ERC research project on manufacturing technology for a new communications transmission medium.

ROSES AND RHUBARB

by DON ALLEN

SPRING THIS YEAR is being brought to you through the courtesy of ALLEN'S FLOWERS. So return the favor — send flowers to someone you love.

Or even send flowers to someone who doesn't like you. Then they will like you again.

(We will have a different $1.00 flower special to choose from again this weekend.)

ALLEN'S FLOWERS INTRODUCES THE FREE LUNCH. Since we've been playing to capacity crowds each weekend, delays in wrapping your flowers have been inevitable.

Our token toward effective mood control is to provide you with a beautiful background music AND we will now feature a bottomless barrel of Bavarian Bangers (Pretzels) plus a 40¢ sauce bratishg dish brimming with goodies. So come on in and munch a hunch. This may not be the most nutritious lunch you have ever had — but the PRICE is RIGHT.

(Let's make that 7 different $1.00 flower specials to choose from this weekend.)

THERE IS A RUMOR, being whispered, sometimes even shouted that ALLEN'S FLOWERS has the freshest flowers, in the most varied and enormous selection, at the most realistic prices, and is staffed by the friendliest and most attractive sales people. THIS IS A TRUE RUMOR FOLKS. We ought to know, we started it ourselves.

( Heck, it's always as many different $1.00 flower specials as we can surround this weekend.)

A MAJOR POLICY STATEMENT to be announced in next weeks advertisement. We do not want to tip our hand to our competitors yet, but this is another plan to give you money and help you get more for your flower dollar. Just the kind of idea you'd expect from your leader.

Another wild and wondrous weekend coming up folks. Plan to come early for widest selection. We start our weekend $1.00 flower specials Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Antonia: Queen of the Best-Seller Lists

Maybe it's her long, jet-set blonde hair, maybe it's her position in British society. But Lady Antonia Fraser, with her biography "Mary Queen of Scots" seems to have settled in on Princeton's best seller lists. And another best "recommended" may not be far behind. Quite a family.

NON-FICTION

"Mary, Queen of Scots," Antonia Fraser. Public Library. In reissues all the way back to the 17th century. (Male's Book Shop, Princeton Book Mart, Public Library).

"Justice: The Crisis of Law, Order and Freedom in America," Richard Harris. (University Store).

FICTION

"The French Lieutenant's Woman," John Fowles (Male's Book Shop, Princeton Book Mart). It's been a best-seller since last November.

"The Godfather," M. Puzo (Public Library). And this one's been on national best-seller lists for 47 weeks. A story about the Mafia.

"The Best of Families," Elgin Bellin. Irving's wife writes a family chronicle. (University Store)

RECOMMENDATIONS

"The Education of Victoria Speyer," Doris Hatcher. A Cornwall tale comes to the U.S. Charmingly printed by the Tintinn Press, in Upper Black Eddy, Pennsylvania. (Male's Book Shop).

"The Whole Earth Catalogue. You'll never see another book like it. Everything from how to make a tape to the natural way to draw to a description of brainstorms. From the Portola Institute in California. (Public Library, on reserve only).

"Wellington," Elizabeth Longford. Biography of the military hero. The author is Antonia Fraser's mother. (Princeton Book Mart).

"Custer Died for Your Sins," Vine deloria. A modern American Indian takes a few white scalps. (University Store).

Admiral Richards lived in retirement at his family home, "Kavanagh," in Newcastle, for a time he was president of the trustees of Lincoln Academy in Newcastle. He was a member of the Nassau Club.

Surviving are three sons, Frederick G. of Newcastle; Charles G. of Gloucester, Conn., and John T. of Alexandria, Va. The service was held in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Newcastle.

Garrett D. Bush, 57 of Dutch-town-Zion Road, died March 11 in Princeton Hospital after a long illness. He was a lifelong resident of Zion, near Belle Mead.

ADVICE ON MEDICARE. Check Your Coverage First. The manager of the Social Security Office in Trenton has acted to clear up misunderstandings about the coverage of extended care treatment under Medicare.

John J. Moorehead Jr. said his office will be glad to answer specific inquiries, but is unable to give a ruling even in an extended care facility, but cannot be covered by Medicare benefits.

For extended care to be covered, it must meet the following conditions:

The need for it must be determined and the care must be ordered by a doctor.

The patient must have been treated for three consecutive days at a participating hospital, or other institution, not more than 15 days before admission for extended care.

The extended care must be for treatment of the same condition for which he was hospitalized originally. The Social Security Administration does not consider care as the covered level of care provided when a patient is admitted upon leaving the hospital, but requires him to be in an institution for the primary purpose of receiving continued skilled nursing services and other professional services.

Non-covered care is defined as any level of care less intensive than extended care. This includes personal attendant convenience items (such as radio and TV), private duty nurses, extra charges for a private room unless medically necessary, and care to help meet the needs of daily living such as walking, dressing, bathing, eating, or the taking of medicine on a regular schedule. When meeting these needs is the primary purpose of any care, that care is non-covered.

Mr. Moorehead also warned that a patient whose need for Medicare covered services terminates while he is still in extended care, will lose at the same time his Medicare coverage and further care will be at his own expense.

Inquiries on extent of coverage, or any other questions, should be addressed by phone, letter or personal visit to the Social Security office at 437 East State Street, Trenton; telephone 396-3435.

A Puff For TOWN TOPICS

Last week's TOWN TOPICS carried an advertisement offering a $100 reward for the return of "Puff," a Great Pyrenees who had wandered away from his Princeton home for the first time in six years.

"Puff" isn't easy to mislay — he weighs about 140 pounds — but he was nowhere to be found despite checks with all police departments in the area. Within a day or two after TOWN TOPICS was published last week, his owners had him back. "Puff" had gotten on the way to Skillman, but could not be identified because the day he had departed he had been sprinkled with fine powder and it was the first time in years he had not been wearing his collar and Princeton Borough license. The three boys who had befriended him spotted the ad in TOWN TOPICS, and "Puff" is back home again.
